Equipment: Ponsee Cobra tree processor; ASV PT 100 forestry package skidsteer on tracks; Loftness timber axe mulcher for front of skidsteer; pallet forks, tree grapple, bucket for skidsteer; White 8510 135 hp front wheel assist tractor with loader and grapple fork; 1994 Peterbilt semi-truck with 50' dropdeck trailer with loading ramps; Norwood Mx36 portable sawmill set up permanently in my shop; Stihl chainsaws .

Notes: With the tree processor I can cut trees at nearly ground level, then remove branches, leaving a loggable log to remove and take to my sawmill. It is an 8-wheel drive with tracks to go over 2 axles and a set of chains to go over a third axle. The skidsteer with mulcher head will shred small trees up to 6" in diameter as well as small branches into a mulch to cover the ground with 6" or less mulch pieces. The skid steer has rubber tracks to minimize damage to the forest floor. The tractor can haul logs to the truck to be moved off site.
